Korean language courses (non-academic education)

The first semester of the Korean language course is 200 hours long and focuses on establishing complete language and communication skills in foreign students. Students are grouped into 1-6 classrooms for instruction, and each semester is placed into classes based on test scores. Korean courses are offered by outstanding instructors who have extensive teaching experience and command of the classroom. In addition to Korean language sessions, students can participate in a range of cultural activities to better understand Korean culture.
